CAS Launches New Software System to Drive Growth and Efficiency

Ontario, CA February 12th, 2018 -- Certified Aviation Services LLC (CAS), a leading provider of MRO services for fleet operators around the world, launches its new time and attendance software program by Acumen Data Systems, a leading provider of workforce management and business automation software.

CAS screened an assortment of companies during the selection process. The final decision was based on Acumen Data Systems willingness to customize a software for CAS' unique needs. This customized software will allow CAS to track workforce efficiently, which is a key element in operations.

Michael Stafford, CAS' President of Line Maintenance said, "Acumen Data Systems will improve our ability to manage manpower to support our customers with adequate workforce. The software will further provide our customers with efficient invoicing, allowing the customer to better understand the services being provided to them."
